

Program Director and Lecturer, Forensic Science Program, Non-Tenure Track

Loyola University Chicago's (LUC), College of Arts and Sciences, Forensic Sciences Program invite applications for a non-tenure-track, three-year appointment as a Program Director and Lecturer, beginning in the fall of 2020. The Program offers a Forensic Science Education Programs (FEPAC) Accredited B.S. degree in Forensic Science. For more details about the program, visit <https://www.luc.edu/forensicscience/about.shtml>.

The teaching of Forensic Science Courses will involve lecturing, overseeing laboratory sections, and overseeing student research projects. The Program Director is responsible for the daily operation of the Forensic Science Program, to include maintaining national accreditation, overseeing courses, working with various Chairs of Departments, and working with the majors.

Posting Link: <http://www.careers.luc.edu/postings/13867>

Qualifications

Candidates holding a Ph.D. degree in forensic science or a natural science with forensic science knowledge and experiences. Applicants should have experience teaching lectures and laboratories in Forensic Science, Forensic Ethics and Professional Practice, and other forensic science lecture and laboratories. The candidate must meet the following national accreditation standards: (1) at least five years relevant experience as a forensic science practitioner, not including any training time in an operational forensic science laboratory setting OR at least five years relevant experience as an academic forensic scientist that includes appropriate educational, research, and service contributions to forensic science; (2) documented research experience in a forensic science discipline or in methods and techniques adapted, validated, and implemented by the forensic science community; and (3) documented management experience appropriate to the duties assigned to the position. The successful candidate will have a strong commitment to excellence in teaching, and should be willing to support the mission of LUC and the goals of a Jesuit Catholic Education.

Preferred Qualifications: Candidates should have five (5) years forensic science casework experience, a thorough understanding of daily operations of a full-service forensic laboratory, a thorough understanding of QA/QC requirements for a forensic laboratory, training forensic scientists, and testified as an expert witness.

Loyola University Chicago is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer with a strong commitment to hiring for our mission and diversifying our faculty. The University seeks to increase the diversity of its professoriate, workforce and undergraduate and graduate student populations because broad diversity – including a wide range of individuals who contribute to a robust academic environment – is critical to achieving the University’s mission of excellence in education, research, educational access and services in an increasingly diverse society. Therefore, in holistically assessing the many qualifications of each applicant, we would factor favorably an individual’s record of conduct that includes experience with an array of diverse perspectives, as well as a wide variety of different educational, research or other work activities. Among other qualifications, we would also factor favorably experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to an academic career or degrees.

As a Jesuit Catholic institution of higher education, we seek candidates who will contribute to our strategic plan to deliver a Transformative Education in the Jesuit tradition. To learn more about LUC’s mission, candidates should consult our website at www.luc.edu/mission/. For information about the university’s focus on transformative education, they should consult our website at www.luc.edu/transformatived.